PA Boys Return Friday

The 189th session of Phillips Academy opens Friday when the 600 boys of this year's student body begin returning to campus. Boys new to PA check in Friday when Headmaster John M. Kemper, newly appointed Dean of Students John Richards, and other members of the administration will welcome them and their parents in an orientation meeting.

Old boys returning to campus on Saturday will find that the renovation of Bishop Hall in the West Quadrangle has been completed with work still in progress on the common rooms of Bishop and Rockwell halls. For the first year, the senior class, with the exception of proctors in underclass dormitories, will live as a group in the LIBRARY DIRECTOR MIRIAM PUTNAM during her last week as active director of Memorial Hall Library. (Richard Graber)

Miss Putnam Leaving Memorial Hall

(A TOWNSMAN News Feature)
Miriam Putnam is a small woman, only 5 feet tall.

But when she clears her desk and walks away from Memorial Hall Library Friday, for the last time, it will create an enormous vacuum for this ebullient, zesty little woman has been nurturing, shaping and catering to the tastes of Andover readers for 28 years. Miss Putnam isn't happy to be going. Tears sneak into her eyes when she speaks of it. She is less regretful, however, than many a person who comes to retirement because she knows precisely where

Librarian Takes Terminal Leave

Miss Miriam Putnam, Memorial Hall Library director, is on terminal leave from the library beginning Sept. 15. She has accepted the position of assistant librarian at Talladega College in Alabama and will take up her new post at the college on Oct. 15.

Richard J. Bowen, town manager, and the Memorial Hall Library board of trustees at their meeting on Sept. 11 concurred in the appointment of Arthur James Anderson as acting director to become director on Dec. 11, 1967.

she is going and can predict with certainty that she will be much too busy with the future to wallow in the past.

Between now and Oct. 15, Miss Putnam will load her car and head for Talladega, Ala. to begin a second career as assistant librarian for Talladega College, a small inter-racial institution with a predominately Negro student body. "It would be incredibly harder if I were busting up and going to nothing," she says as she talks with excitement of the challenge it will be for a Northern public library director to settle in the heart of the South as second in command of a college library.

Miss Putnam is going, retiring, before she needs to, because she wants to make a new kind of contribution. "I don't feel we can divorce ourselves from the problems of the world," she explains. "You can't resign from the human race."

Actually, Miss Putnam feels there will be strong ties between her past and her future. "Public librarians serve to help people, all people, no matter who or what they are, develop their potentiality. What I am going to do will really be an extension of what I have been doing all my life," she says.

Why Talladega? Because she was "looking for a chance to do

Cronin, Davey In Contest

Andover candidates led both the Republican and Democratic tickets in Tuesday's primary election to select nominees for a Twelfth District House seat in the Massachusetts legislature. The general election is to be held Oct. 3.

Republican Paul W. Cronin, former aide to Congressman F. Bradford Morse and a former Andover selectman, ran ahead of all who were in the primary race, polling a total vote of 2296. He outdistanced Andover Selectman William Stewart by 1104 votes and finished better than 1500 votes ahead of Selectman John J. Scannell in Methuen.

The Democratic nominee, Vincent P. Davey is a former Andover school committeeman. Davey led the ticket in his hometown, but he trailed James Graham in Methuen and James D. McCabe of North Andover in their home communities. He won with a total vote of 573.

In spite of perfect weather, the primary drew only 6213 voters to the polls in Andover, North Andover, Methuen and Ward in Law-

Last-Ditch Pollution Meet Set

Elected officials from Andover, North Andover, Lawrence and Methuen will meet at the Vo-Tech School tonight for what is being billed as a final attempt to reconcile the differences of opinion that are blocking formation of a regional pollution control district.

The four communities have been at odds for two years on the question of board representation, with Lawrence taking the position that she should out-represent the smaller communities because of the large investment she would have to make in the proposed $21 million sewage filtration facility. The most recent attempt at a compromise was suggested by Methuen representatives who, having previously supported a 1-1-1 board, now propose that a 3-2-1 board be provided for in enabling legislation.

Neither Andover nor North Andover is prepared to accept this solution, however. A compromise suggested by Town Manager Richard Bowen on behalf of Andover several months ago may yet be considered, though so far Lawrence has made no comment about something socially useful," she admits that she is going as a "completely untested creature", but she adds that she wanted an inter-racial situation. "It may be that more comes to me than I give," she adds with humility.

"I'm going with the idea that I really want to live in this college community and I really want to make it work," says Miss Putnam. The librarian says she particularly hopes to have some time with students because she finds personal relationships one of the most satisfying aspects of her work.

The faculty of the Alabama college is about equally white and Negro and it has quite an international flavor - there is one member with a degree from Poland, another from India and a Jesuit joins the group this year.

Asked to pinpoint the highlights of her experience here, the librarian speaks of Memorial Hall's physical expansion to house a collection of 100,000 books, the building of that collection, and Andover's selection as a link in the Eastern Regional Public Library System.

Miss Putnam says that even after all these years, she cannot characterize Andover on the basis of its reading habits. But she added that it is definitely a reading community, and one that gives its library good financial support. "Perhaps this stems back to the fact that when Memorial Hall was built, so many people contributed," she said.

She believes also that the academies, Phillips and Abbot, in addition to Andover Newton Seminary which was born here have given the town an "academic attitude . . . and intellectual tone" that is missing in some communities.

What has happened to Andover in the more than quarter century since Miss Putnam came here?

For one thing, she feels it has learned to come to grips with problems. "In the last few years I have rejoiced to see Andover squarely meeting some of the needs it has found for municipal buildings," Miss Putnam said in interview.

"It has taken imaginative and creative steps forward. Now it is a community that knows it has problems and it is making efforts to solve them," she continued. "The changes, the new people, are all very good for generating new ideas and action," Miss Putnam said in recalling the town's growth, to a population of approximately 21,000.

She made particular mention of Town Meeting approval of the A Better Chance program for disadvantaged high school boys and

Valley Group Elects Stewart

William Stewart of Andover has been elected secretary of the newly organized Merrimack Valley Selectmen's Organization.

The first official meeting of the newly formed group will be held in Andover, on Wednesday, Sept. 20, at a location to be announced within the next few days.

Representatives from Westford, Billerica, Dracut, Tyngsboro, Tewksbury, Andover and Chelmsford met recently to name officers and adopt bylaws.

Francis X. Corliss of Tewksbury is chairman; Russell A. Young, of Billerica, vice chairman; Mark Mulligan, Westford, treasurer; Frank J. McArdle, executive secretary for the Tewksbury board, public relations director; members of the executive board - James McDowell of Tyngsboro, Gerald Lannan of Chelmsford and Angelo J. Orlando of Methuen.

The new organization has been formed to give participating communities an opportunity to exchange information on problems commented that this decision "shows Andover sees the world in all its complexity and is willing to play a role."

Miss Putnam says she is going to miss most her apartment, the library, its trustees and the "wonderful" staff, the Boston Symphony and the Charles Street Playhouse.

She does not intend, however, to miss them forever. The apartment will be hers, at least for the time being, and she expects to return to New England for vacations and holidays.

As for the future of Memorial Hall, Miss Putnam is not in the least worried. She feels that now that the building projects are out of the way, the library may want to concentrate on reaching even more of the community through coordination of its activities with such town groups as the Council on Aging or arranging a program for shut-ins.

Perhaps more can be done with dramatizing the library and its services, she adds.

And once the senior high school library is open, she believes some effort should go into wooing back as regular patrons those adults lost because of the lack of space and the noise created by students crowded into that space after school and during holidays. This does not mean, she explains immediately, that she feels there will be a dramatically diminished demand for public library services to students. On the contrary, she believes the two libraries will stimulate the demand for one another.

Miss Putnam says she couldn't feel better about her successor, Arthur J. Anderson. "I feel he shares my philosophy about public libraryship . . . I feel there will be that they share in common. In some instances certain towns have already encountered and coped successfully with problems which later face other members of the group. The areas of common interest include sewerage, housing, water pollution, personnel matters, budgets, welfare problems, zoning and building regulations, and the matter of federal and state loans and grants.

The combined constituency of the member towns involved is in the neighborhood of a quarter of a million people.

great continuity." "But," she adds with a twinkle in her eye, "I have told him there are no sacred cows."

Miss Putnam came to Andover in 1939, fresh from experience at the Newton library and only a few years after she earned degrees from both Radcliffe and Columbia University.

Since that time she has been active at various times with the board of the Youth Center, the Historical Society, the Greater Lawrence Guidance Center and the League of Women Voters.

When she is not being a librarian, she "reads a great deal", goes to symphony and the theater and "as a very inferior piano player" indulges in her passion for the music of Bach.

The contest is for the vacancy in the House created by the resignation some months ago of Atty. Arthur Williams of Andover who left his elective office to become legislative secretary to Gov. John A. Volpe.

Republican observers were predicting Wednesday that Cronin's wide-margin primary victory assures his election next month in the traditionally Republican district.

announced by Merrimack College.

Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, Merrimack president, has announced that desk top calculating computing systems will be used as classroom aids for teaching mathematics beginning this term. Pointing out that the program is the first of its kind in the nation, Rev. McQuade said, "Merrimack College is pleased to be associated with the Wang Laboratories of Tewksbury, in this project. I believe that it can be helpful to all the schools in this area and should spread throughout the country. The use of a desktop computer in teaching mathematics and in applying concepts of modern mathematics should open new avenues of interest both for the students and for the teachers."

By using the desktop computer, a student will, through calculations made by himself on the machine, be led to a better understanding of the subject. Burdensome mechanics, which tend to obscure the underlying concepts, will be alleviated through the use of electronic calculators.

The system will get its first operational test under the direction of Joseph A. Pavelcak, director of the Merrimack College Computational Center.

Pavelcak stated, "By seeing the result of a calculation immediately displayed on a direct readout screen, the student will maintain interest in the problem at hand. He will be prompted to use the result to evaluate his problem approach and take corrective action on his own."

According to an official of the Wang Laboratories, the mathematical-laboratory concept is not novel. It has been thought about but not acted out in actual operation. The know-how and the design and selection of the precise instruments necessary to implement the program never got beyond the thinking stage.

"The installation of the desktop calculators at Merrimack College is a revolutionary milestone in teaching in this new computer age," Rev. McQuade concluded.

Andover High School is among other educational institutions checking into the adaptability of the miniature computers to their instructional program. Actually, James A. Murphy, AHS math department head, began discussion of possible use with Wang Laboratories' curriculum consultant even before the program was finally system-documented.

Fiesta Draws Good Crowd

Seventy to 100 people danced to Latin music Saturday night at St. Robert Bellarmine Church in West Andover where a fiesta was held for migrant Puerto Rican farm workers served by the Commonwealth Service Corps in this area. Father Gilbert Dube of the Lowell Spanish Center opened the evening with a Mass after which the farm workers and guests from the community met in the parish hall for music and refreshments. Food for the evening was prepared by Miss Maria Reyes, language coordinator for the Migrant Education Program in Andover and by parishioners from St. Robert's. Contributing funds to support the evening of entertainment were St. Robert's, Faith Lutheran Church, St. Augustine's Church and West Church.

Among those from Andover attending the fiesta were Town Manager Richard Bowen, Mrs. Bowen and their six children, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Klie, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Trull, Thomas Saunders, Joseph Connell, Rev. William Fitzgerald and Father Paul Keyes.

Workers from the Borghesi farm in Methuen and the Doyle farm in Essex and Dick Reardon, coordinator for the MEP in Andover, played in the band.

In A Word . . .

Cirrhosis

Every pharmacist is aware of the fact that cirrhosis is a serious disease that usually affects the liver. Few people, however, realize that the word simply refers to a color change in the organ.

The term "cirrhosis" is derived from the Greek word kirrhos which simply means tawny or tan. The 19th century French physician, Rene Laennec, noticing that the disease causes a change in the color of the liver from deep brown to light tan, named the disease after the color change.

Attorney Is Given Honor

The board of advisory editors of Outstanding Civic Leaders of America announced today that Atty. Helen Comeau of Andover has been chosen for inclusion in the 1967 edition of this national publication.

Outstanding Civic Leaders of America is an annual biographical compilation of approximately 6,000 civic leaders from all parts of the nation. The men and women included were nominated earlier this year by local city officials, Chamber of Commerce, and civic groups.

"They have distinguished themselves in civic work to the point of being outstanding," said Doug Blankenship, past U. S. Jaycee president and chairman of the board of advisory editors.

Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, president of the United States Conference of Mayors, has said that "The men and women listed in this book through their abilities and services as civic leaders have earned the gratitude of all citizens ... they have proved that America is confident of its ability to put aside doubt and take action."

The publication was conceived by leaders of the nation's civic organizations. Its purpose is to nationally recognize men and women who give their time for community development and inspire others to greater community service.

The 1967 edition is scheduled for publication in January of 1968.

Flu Epidemic Is Predicted

Alfred L. Frechette, commissioner of public health for the State of Massachusetts, has warned local health boards to expect an outbreak of Asian influenza during the coming winter.

Frechette pointed out that Asian flu appears in epidemic cycles every two or three years, and he reminded local boards that the last epidemic here was during the winter of 1964-65.

"Therefore," he said, "we should expect and be prepared for, a widespread outbreak this winter."

Teenage girls today are using more and more makeup than ever before. Especially eye makeup. The problem is that too many of them are not using it correctly or subtly enough. It usually is too pronounced and much too noticeable. Makeup when used properly does enhance the beauty of any woman's eyes. However, young school girls do not need mascara and eye liner to look good. To make your lashes look darker and also encourage their growth, dip your finger-tip in a tiny speck of vaseline and brush your lashes upward over your finger. You'll be amazed at the difference even without mascara. It leaves a faint suggestion of vaseline under your eyes, which gives them a liquid and glistening quality.

There are many easy tricks to beauty; the easiest being a visit to CAPILO HAIR STYLISTS, 2 Riverina Rd., (Tel. 475-1639). We specialize in high-styling. Open 9 - 6 pm Daily - Fri. 9 - 8 pm! PA Is Host To Workshop

Phillips Academy was last week host to the second Andover-Exeter workshop on counseling. From Sunday through Wednesday, housemasters and members of the administration and medical staffs of the two academies met in small groups to discuss ways of handling the kinds of emotional situations which come to the attention of the housemaster and teacher.

Under the direction of Dr. Stanley H. King of the Harvard University Health Services, the educators and psychiatric consultants focused on case studies drawn from both schools. Andover Dean of Students, John Richards, coordinated the four day program which also brought to Andover Dr. Preston Munter, Dr. Paul Walters, Dr. Graham Blaine and Dr. Douglas Powell, all from Harvard's Health Center.

For more than 60 years Goodwill Industries have offered jobs, wages and training to handicapped people. The Goodwill program is mainly supported through the sale of refurbished materials.

the plan which calls for formation of both governing and advisory boards to effect a balance of power.

The Greater Lawrence communities are under pressure either to settle the representation issue or make other than district arrangements for pollution abatement, since the State Water Resources Commission has said it wants legislation for the district ready for the 1968 session of the General Court.

If there is no compromise tonight, Andover and North Andover Selectmen will meet immediately following the four-community conference to take first steps toward plans for a two-town filtration plant.

Officials of the neighboring towns met in North Andover last week with representatives from the Pollution Control Division of the Resources Commission. Following this session, Manager Richard Bowen said that there had, in effect, been agreement on three points:

* It is important that communities along the Merrimack stop polluting the river.

* Unless a real compromise on representation can be reached with Lawrence and Methuen, the two Andover and North Andover are prepared to look into a joint solution.

* Andover and North Andover have a great deal in common.

Since the last four-community conference on pollution, the Central Merrimack Valley Regional Planning District Committee has notified officials that recent upgrading of the proposed purification standards for a portion of the Merrimack will have no effect on the assessments required of Lawrence and Methuen for construction of a regional plant. Both communities expressed concern over this point when it was learned that the stretch of river between Fish Brook in Andover and the dam in Lawrence must meet "B" water quality standards which means that the water would be safe for swimming and would require less treatment for consumption than other portions of the river which are classified for upgrading from "D" to "C" standards.

Membership Drive Begins

The North Andover-Andover Parents League is beginning its fall season with a membership drive open to all parents of children in the fifth grade through college.

The purpose of the League is to promote high standards of educational and social behavior, to give information on cultural and recreational opportunities and to coordinate relationships between parents, their children, the schools and the community.

Scheduled plans for the year include social events for all age groups, the annual Ski-Skate Exchange and, for the first time, a Christmas dance for the college age group.

Notices for membership have been sent to all those members of last year, but other parents interested in joining either for the first time or rejoining, should contact Mrs. Richard Moody or Mrs. Thomas Dye before Oct. 1.

Tourney Attracts 56 Players

In the Merrimack Open and Amateur class Tournament last week-end, which attracted fifty-six chess players to Merrimack College, John Curdo and Alexander Keyes tied for first place in the Open Section.

Curdo, the top-rated Chess player in Massachusetts, has been winning chess tournaments such as the New England Open and others since he was fourteen years old. He comes from Chelmsford, while Alexander Keyes is from Cambridge. The $60 prize money for first and second places was shared.

The third place in the Open Section went to B. Germalin from Ledyard, Conn. The top expert or "A" trophy went to Imre Toth from West Roxbury. The trophy for the top woman player went to the popular Margaret Gould from Newburyport, while the top junior trophy went to James J. Burke III from Lowell.

In the Amateur Section which was limited to "C", "D", and un-rated players, Roderick J. MacDonald of Arlington, won the first-place thirty dollar cash prize. Four people tied for second and third places: Martins Duhms from Jamaica Plains, Norman Casas from Durham, N. H., Roger Morin from Auburn, Maine, and Douglas Locke from Wakefield.

Chess books were awarded to William MacLellan of Dorchester and Robert Bates of Byfield.

The Greater Lawrence Trophy donated by the Eagle Tribune Publishing Co. went to Albert Giroux of Methuen, while the Junior Trophy went to Allan Zembruski of Lawrence.

grant will serve the communities of Lawrence, Methuen, Andover and North Andover, and is designed to develop services for the Spanish-American population in the Greater Lawrence area.

Chiropractor Thomas J. Killeen of Salem, N. H. has withdrawn his petition to the Zoning Board of Appeals for a variance to permit use of the property at 371 N. Main St. for both his offices and living quarters.

His attorney, in a letter to the board, said "obstacles have arisen" and he asked that the petition be withdrawn without prejudice.

This postpones the need for the ZBA to rule upon whether or not a chiropractor is a "physician" in the sense that this term is used in the town's zoning bylaw which permits certain professional men to have offices in residential properties.

School Census Will Be Taken

A census of school age children will begin soon, according to state law, under the direction of the Andover Public Schools.

The purpose of the census is to enable the Superintendent of Schools to file with the Commissioner of Education a report of the number of minor children whose parents or guardians are residents of the Town and who were enrolled on October first in the following schools - public, private, vocational and regional - kindergarten through gradetwelve. Children attending other than local schools will be included.

A pre-school census will be taken, at the same time, to be used as a guide to school authorities.

Square Dance Class Begins If Spring Returns . . .

A new class in modern Western style square dancing for high school age teens will start Friday, Sept. 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the Central Elementary School gym. For three weeks the class will be open to any boy or girl in the ninth grade or above who would like to join the group.

In the spring a "graduation" will be held and the class will become members of the Twilight Twirlers Square Dance Club. All class and club members are reminded to wear soft-soled shoes or sneakers in the gym. Bob Baillie of Ayer Street is the caller and teaches the class.

Thirty-five members of the Twilight Twirlers attended the 16th National Square Dance Convention in Philadelphia last June. They have had also several cook-outs and beach parties this summer. The club helps with the class on Friday evenings and has its own workshop from 10-10:30. They also have one club dance a month and a special event such as a skating party or mystery ride.

A special treat for all teen square dancers in the area will be held Sept. 17 from 2-4:30 in the Andover Grange Hall when Bob Fisk of Chino, California will call. Bob is a traveling caller and is well known to square dancers from coast to coast.

Officers of the Twilight Twirlers are: president, Tom Meyer; vice presidents, Marilyn Proudfoot and Stan Dzierlatka; secretary, Karen Nelson; treasurer, Dick Arsenault; social chairman, Dianne Hayes; member-at-large, Mike McHale and past president, Mike Bergeron. Adult advisors are Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Patterson of Andover. Financial advisor is Mrs. John Jackson of North Andover.

Ibsen's Wild Duck Is Great Books Topic

Robert Rockwell, co-leader of the Memorial Hall Library Great Books group announces that the first meeting of the coming season will be held at the library Sept. 26 at 7:30 p.m. The discussion topic is to be Ibsen's THE WILD DUCK. Sets of the readings for this year have been received and those who ordered them may call for them now. Just inquire at the desk in the main reading room.

Anyone in the Greater Lawrence area who would like to join the group may do so. Meetings are held every other Tuesday at the library. The group is a gathering of equals who face each other with their differences intact across a great book which they all read prior to the discussion. Here busy and divergent lives come together as they might in no other way. If you are interested, please call free to get more details at the library. Be prepared to start the new season on Sept. 26.

Congratulations

Members of the Green Team won the summer reading sweepstakes at Memorial Hall Library Children's Room. It was a nip and tuck battle most of the summer between members of the four reading teams in the vacation reading club. On the very last day, the greens forged ahead of the blues by a count of one.

Under the rules each participant was assigned to a team and then spent the summer reading at least ten good books. As each boy or girl completed the reading of ten good books, a point was earned for the team. The final tally was as follows: Green team - 31; Blue team - 30; Red team - 29; Pink team - 24. Altogether 195 Andover youngsters started in the sweepstakes and 114 finished the race by doing all the reading. Members of the winning Green team are:

League Seeks New Members

The Andover League of Women Voters, with others in the state, is celebrating League of Women Voters Week, proclaimed by Gov. John A. Volpe for Sept. 11-17. The observance kicks off a membership drive which the Massachusetts League hopes will add 1000 members to the 13,000 already involved with "promoting political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government."

The Andover League is particularly involved this year with a study of school building with emphasis on the relationship between architectural design and educational program.

It is continuing with study and support of the following:

Education - support of a maximum elementary class size of 25 pupils and minimum of 10 non-classroom professionals per 1000 pupils, a minimum of 60 teachers per 1000 pupils and minimum of 15 non-classroom professionals per 1000 pupils; programs permitting teachers to be employed 12 months.

Conservation - Support of the Conservation Commission and support of an active open space land acquisition program.

Support of the Selectman-Town Manager form of government; the public recreation program; and expansion of library services.

Workshop Is Open To Public

A "Tube Painting Workshop" open house will be held Saturday, Sept. 16, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Joseph Carrier, 29 Dufton Rd.

On exhibition will be a large selection of painted articles showing the various techniques of this new art medium.

The public is invited to attend and join in the activities.

Editorial Comment

Facing Facts

Thomas Jefferson once said, "When a man assumes a public trust, he should consider himself as public property."

Anyone who has any illusions left about the effectiveness of laws forbidding strikes by teachers, public safety personnel or other government workers had better face facts — such laws as now exist are all but meaningless. It is unrealistic to believe otherwise.

It stands to reason that any group of employees militant enough to organize for collective bargaining will resort to a strike, or a reasonable facsimile, if all else fails to produce an amicable agreement.

The public is over a barrel. When public school teachers threaten mass resignations, as they did in New York this week, what good is a counter threat of suspension or court action? The schools in every community must function sooner or later and they cannot operate long or effectively with administrators, substitutes and interested parents manning classrooms. Strike-minded teachers know this perfectly well.

When the nurses in a public hospital resign, as they did recently in Haverhill, because of a wage dispute, the dispute must be settled. Obviously no hospital can rebuild a nursing staff overnight when nurses are in short supply.

And where is a municipality to turn for trained fire or policemen if the men on these forces are persuaded to leave their jobs?

A way must be found to tighten anti-strike laws for municipal workers. But punitive measures are not going to be the only answer. Nor is it practical to take the attitude that public employees who do not like the way the cards are dealt can simply look elsewhere for employment. . . . When large masses of workers, particularly professional people are involved, such a cure could be disastrous.

From here on municipalities should exercise greater care than ever in hiring, for if town departments are staffed with people capable of dedication to public service, the municipal employer can expect to enjoy peaceful labor relations so long as its policies do not invite rebellion.

It is a tall order, for a great many people who become involved with unions begin to neglect the habit of independent thought and leave decisions to leaders who are sometimes more concerned with feathering their own nests and control of management policies than in bargaining for what is genuinely in the long-range interest of their membership.

But in the final analysis, legal restraints on strikes against the public will not prove an effective substitute for enlightened leadership on both sides of the bargaining table.

A Vital Force

"Active voter interest and participation in our government and its workings is essential if this State and Nation are to maintain a secure and stable society capable of meeting the challenge of the future. . . ."

These words were the opening for a statement by Governor John A. Volpe proclaiming Sept. 11 — 17 as League of Women Voters Week and they are apt, for the program of the League in Massachusetts is designed "to cultivate and renew" active participation in government by Bay State women.

League ladies — 13,000 of them — can list among recent victories voter approval of three referendum questions last September: joint election of the governor and lieutenant governor, executive reorganization at the State House and strengthened municipal home rule. All were actively supported by the League.

Locally, the League has pushed with vigor and success for purchase of conservation lands, expansion of library resources, improved educational programs in the public school system for retarded children, expansion of municipal recreation facilities and adoption of the town manager form of government and a long list of other programs.

By focusing attention on important issues throughout the State, the League has kept not only its own members but the general population and politicians at all levels of government alert to an assortment of public needs.

League ladies prove with regularity that women can be a vital force for progress in a democracy.

Nature's Ways

That Annoying Ocean Algae Keeps Us Alive!

By Wayne Hanley

Now that autumn approaches and the green plants soon will wither and trees lose their leaves, where shall we get our oxygen?

Or, to put the question in terms that it recently was asked: "Since green plants produce the oxygen we breathe, what keeps us from suffocating in the winter?"

There are several answers to that question — for all of which we should be thankful. But, first a brief review of the interdependence of plants and animals.

In 1772, Joseph Priestley put a sprig of mint under a clear glass vase and inverted the vase in a tray of water. He then set a mouse in the shallow tray and placed an inverted wine glass over it. A tube connected the air in the vase and the air in the glass. Instead of suffocating as a mouse normally would under a wine glass, Priestley's mouse lived.

Priestley said, to paraphrase his report, "I have discovered at least one of the restoratives which Nature employs in restoring air. . . . It is vegetation."

With his wine glass, vase, mint and mouse, Priestley had obtained more scientific information than we usually get today from a $10 million budget and a staff of 25 scientists. Still, Priestley had learned only that the air was "restored". It remained for others to learn that plants have the peculiar faculty of breaking down carbon dioxide which animals exhale and then releasing free oxygen.

Without this essential process in plants, life as we know it would disappear from the earth. The atmosphere's free oxygen soon would be bonded with carbon in carbon dioxides or carbon monoxides, either of which can destroy life.

But, what about winter? Where does our oxygen come from when the fields are brown and tree limbs bare? The first answer is that winter never is worldwide. At the time that our trees shed leaves, South America's trees unfold the new leaves of a southern hemisphere spring. Summer merely finds a new abode in its constant roving above and below the equator. And, as we are learning in an age of air pollution, streams of air travel worldwide. A whisp of oxygen from the tree in your yard may be breathed by an ox in Bombay.

The basic producer — or, rather "freer" of oxygen — exists, however, in an element that terrestrial man too seldom considers. An estimated 90 percent of the world's free oxygen is released in the oceans. The salt-water algae which exist in forms ranging from microscopic plankton to kelp blades 150 feet long all are plants. Algae makes the ocean water a pleasant green — or, sometimes, turns it into a disgusting red or purple.

They exist as the slime on rocks and boats. Or, as the entangling weed and wrack that annoy bathers. They, too, separate carbon dioxide that has dissolved in water and release free oxygen.

It seems odd that man had no inkling of the existence of an oxygen-carbon-dioxide cycle until the time of the American Revolution. It seems odder still that in an age of outer-space rocketry people find repulsive a lesser form of life upon which all life depends.

Check your car heater and defrosting equipment! This precaution is essential to assure clear vision for winter driving, advises the Registry of Motor Vehicles. Replace streaking wiper blades, and use a brush to remove snow from all windows. Then you will see better. For your safety, you also must be seen clearly by others. Check your lighting front and rear for safer night driving.

Eva and Paul Laurenza, 3 Flax Cir., have been given Zoning Board of Appeals permission to extend their garage three feet, but refused permission to park a truck there. By laws permit the parking of a three-quarter ton truck in a residential neighborhood, but Laurenza was interested in parking a one-ton truck.

The Zoning Appeals Board has ruled that Charles Pelz, 3 Linda Rd., may add a family room to his house, leaving less of a setback than required by present by laws. The house was built to conform with previous setback laws.

Six Andover residents were among Merrimack College students helping the college faculty beautify campus grounds in areas disrupted during construction of the new library. They were: James Kirley, Vincent Santarlasci, David Grieve, John Green, Emil Routhier and Joseph Cecchini.

Employees of the North-Atlantic Service Center, Andover, were honored recently by the International Service Agencies for their "Outstanding" support in the spring campaign.

Director Norman E. Morrill, head of the Internal Revenue facility, accepted the award in behalf of the employees. Service Center personnel contributed $944.20 to the agencies which include the American Foundation Project Hope, Radio Free Europe and CARE. The contribution of the Service Center workers was the largest in the 10-year history of the campaign.

Manager Bowen told the Selectmen Monday that Andover may have to go to the Merrimack River for water sooner than "most people want to believe."

His comment was made during a report to the board on the possible need for construction of a filtration plant for Andover water, even before the Merrimack is tapped. He said the heavy growth of plant life in Haggitt's Pond since the end of the drought may mean that dredging will be necessary. But problems in the system could just as well mean that a filtration plant will have to be built ahead of schedule.

Preliminary estimates set the estimated cost for a plant to filter both pond and river water at $3 million, Bowen said.

Zoning Petition Opposed

Ellsworth H. Lewis, owner of the Shawheen Motor Mart on Haverhill Street, petitioned the Zoning Board of Appeals Thursday for a variance and special permit which would allow him to use developed land adjoining the lot for employee parking.

The area involved is bordered by Haverhill, York and Balmoral avenues.
Neighbors objecting to formal conversion of the former pine into a parking area, told the ZBA that Lewis has encroached on the property over the years, parking cars, trucks and farm equipment there.

The board is already considering a request from Mr. Lewis for permission to expand the motor mart building, reducing the front line setback.
Operation of a garage in the residential neighborhood presents Andover's zoning laws which were legalized in 1936. Originally the building housed American Wholen Co. garage facilities, but is now used as headquarters for Mr. Lewis' automobile dealership as well as auto repairs.
Lewis was represented at the hearing by Atty. Thomas Tavenner who said that the owner intends to fence and landscape the property a question if his request is granted.

The petition was taken under discussion. Sitting for the hearing were Acting Chairman Robert S.
Cullner and associate members
Jerome Andrews and Robert Domingue.

Other petitions heard:
• One from Norman Tisbert, 110 Greenwood Rd., who wants to raise six pigs for family use. He said his father and grandfather raised pigs on the same property for many years. Neighbors object because of the odor.

• Another from Henry S. Gilbert of 12 Sheridan Rd., who has been given permission to convert a house at 112 Main St. to eight apartments.

Some abutters objected at the hearing because they feel there is too little land available for parking they questioned the number of apartments planned, and expressed fear that they would be let to students. They were told by Gilbert that the area for parking meets regulations. The property is held in a trust by Gilbert and Dr. Milton Greenberg.

• Valley Oil Co., 21 White St., Haverhill asked for a variance and special permit for a gasoline filling station at Andover and Dale streets. The company wants to raise the present station and build a new one.

Those objecting said the present station is detrimental to the neighborhood.

• Margaret B. Calderwood, 18
Carlton Cir., for a special permit to rent an existing room.

• And Bruce S. and Lee Dodd, 43 Summer St., to allow an addition to a house at 221 S. Main St.
leaving less than is required for a sideyard.

All petitions were taken under advisement.

all Sundays during the year, 20

James B. Smith OSA Student Takes Church Vows

James B. Smith OSA, son of Mr.
and Mrs. Henry Smith of 17 Harding St., recently made profession of temporary vows in the Order of St. Augustine at ceremonies held at the order's novitiate in New Hamburg, N. Y.

Mr. Smith attended St. Augustine's grammar school and spent two years at Andover High School.
He completed his secondary schooling at Augustinian Academy, Staten Island, N. Y. and graduated in 1966.

He will be stationed at St. Mary's Hall, Augustinian Collegiate Seminary, on the campus of Villanova University in Villanova, Pa. He will study philosophy for four years.

Urgent Need For Leaders

Seventh graders who participated in the Andover Schools' Junior Great Books discussions last year will not be able to continue in the next stage of the program unless at least 20 volunteers can be found who will serve as discussion leaders.

Plans have been made with the Great Books Foundation to begin the eight-week leader training course next week, the materials for 30 trainees have been received, but at present there are not enough volunteers to give the course, according to Mr. William Igoe, guidance director for Andover schools.

More than three quarters of the leaders from last year's program have signified their eagerness to help lead a group again, which will make it possible to include this year's fifth and sixth graders
in Junior Great Books discussions

South PTA Plans Year

The South School PTA will hold its first meeting of the year Oct.
11, and a Get Acquainted Dance is scheduled for November. Mr.
and Mrs. James Loscutoff will plan this affair.

home of Mr. and Mrs. James Munn on Shaw Dr. to plan the opening meeting and other activities for the year.

Members of the 1967-68 board
are James Reid, president; William King, first vice president; Mrs. Isadore Gross, second vice president; Mrs. James Munn, recording secretary; Mrs.
Barbara Johnson, corresponding secretary; and Dr. Charles Cappetta, treasurer.

Battery F Vets Will Convene

The 50th Anniversary of Battery
F, 102nd Field Artillery, 26th Yankee Division will be observed at the Rolling Green Motor Inn on Saturday, Sept. 23. This date was selected because it was just 50 years ago this date that the Lowell Battery, with its contingent from Andover, embarked from Hoboken,
N. J. for France.

The Battery was formed in Lowell as Battery B, then later changed to Battery F. On July 27, 1917, the 102nd regiment was ordered to Camp Curtis Guild, Boxford, and here actual training began. On Sept. 21, the regiment entrained for Hoboken, to board the transport "Finland" which sailed on Sept. 23. They arrived at St. Nazaire, France on Oct. 5, and were among the first 50,000
American troops to arrive there.
On Oct. 17, they entrained for Guer, 60 miles from St. Nazaire, and 20 miles from Rennes, and after strenuous battle training, left for the active front by train on Feb. 4, 1918.

On Feb. 11, the battery fired its first shots in the war, in the Chemin Des Dames sector, later participating in action in the Toul Sector (Xivray, Seichprey); Chateau-Thierry, St. Michel, and Meuse-Argonne (Verdun) battles.
Despite the five major battle areas served, only five were killed, while many were killed in adjoining batteries, so the unit became known as "The Miracle Battery". A number of the men were wounded,

but will not allow the program to begin extending to the full five-year cycle.

There are no special qualifications needed for admission to the training course, besides the commitment to become a discussion
co-leader during this school year.
Twelve sessions will begin in the schools in December and are held on alternate weeks for one hour.
Anyone interested in further information please call Mrs. Alexander Z. Warren or William Igoe.

however.

The Battery was in the Argonne sector near Beaumont when the armistice was announced on Nov.
11, 1918, and finally was ordered to Brest, from which they sailed on March 31, 1919 on the "Mongollia". They arrived in Boston on April 10, going by train to Fort Devens on April 22, they passed in final review for their original divisional commander, Major General Clarence R. Edwards. The division also was honored in Boston on April 25, when all units marched. Final discharge came on April 9, 1919.

Former battery members are expected from various parts of the country. The affair will start at 1 p.m. with a banquet in the evening at 6 p.m. The reunion will end on Sunday.

Evening Study Program Registering

The Andover Evening Study Program is now accepting registration for its 31st annual session which will begin the week of Oct. 2. The 40 courses being offered (23 of them entirely new) have already attracted a large registration. Applicants are urged to enroll as soon as possible, since many of the courses are limited in size. Catalogues containing course descriptions and enrollment blanks may be obtained at the public library or directly from the Andover Evening Study Program at Phillips Academy.

One of the most unusual features of the program is its low cost ($5 for one course and $3 for additional courses), made possible by the willingness of its faculty to teach without remuneration. Any surplus remaining at the end of the program is donated to worthy causes in the Greater Lawrence area.

Most courses meet for one or two hours an evening during October and November. An exception is the Film Program which is offered during January and February. All of the classroom, lecture, laboratory, music, art, and gymnasium facilities of Phillips Academy are placed at the disposal of the Program, ensuring its students the use of some of the finest educational facilities in the country.

Many different types of courses are being offered this year. Titles follow: The Existential Search, Beginning Russian, The English Bible, Hand Bell Ringing, Chamber Chorus, Physical Fitness for Women, Squash, The Adolescent, Age in Greece, Family Budgeting and Financial Planning, Basic Ski and Scuba Diving.

The Teaching of Modern Languages, The Tragic Vision, Modern Greek for the Tourist, Modern Genetics, Art Over Lightly, Light Tackle Techniques in Salt Water Fishing, Play Reading, German for Beginners, Recorder Consort, Methods of Teaching English to Illiterates and Semi-Illiterates, Interpersonal Relations, Albert Camus: Commitment in an Absurd World.

Marine Institute Activated

While most students might have spent a summer by the sea surfing and sailing, a small group on the North Shore preferred studying the sea.

They were enrolled in Northeastern University's summer program in marine biology at the university's new marine science institute in Nahant.

Located on the east point of Nahant which juts into the sea, the site of the institute was formerly a Nike base.

"It is a perfect site," said Dr.
 Nathan W. Riser, director of the institute, who compares the rocky cliffs and clear water to California's Big Sur.

The former quarters and recreation hall for non-commissioned officers have been converted into research cubicles. A large "wet" laboratory in the building consists of two large floor tanks and a water table containing an aquarium.

The group of summer students, including several doctoral candidates and several high school science teachers, studied marine algae, invertebrates and fish. They observed living organisms both in laboratory and in their natural habitat, taking many field trips
 as part of their course work.

Among those in the class was Barbara Hurwitz of 60 E Washington Park Dr., a science teacher.

79 Schoolboys Sailed Saturday

Seventy-nine American high school boys forming the student body of the Andover-Exeter foreign study program known as SCHOOL-BOYS ABROAD sailed Saturday from New York aboard the M/S AURELIA under charter to the Council on Student Travel en route to Le Havre, France. Forty-two of the boys will go to Rennes, France, where they will live during the coming academic year studying under the direction of Harris H. Thomas, lately of the faculty of Phillips Exeter Academy, marking the establishment of a new course in the French language for secondary school students.

The remaining thirty-seven students will go on to Barcelona, Spain, via Paris, under the direction of Clark A. Vaughan who has been in charge of the pilot program in Spain since its inception in 1964. This program was initiated by Phillips Academy in that year for the purpose of providing a junior year abroad for 11th grade boys interested in perfecting their fluency in Spanish, learning at first hand about life in a Spanish family and increasing their understanding of Spanish culture. Andover was joined for the second and successive years of the program by Exeter in one of the few joint educational ventures undertaken by the two largest independent schools for boys in the United States.

The course being opened in Rennes this fall will be conducted along lines parallel to those of the older Spanish program, but in the French language. The boys selected for both programs have performed above average level for the first two years of high school and have demonstrated a strong desire to improve their facility with French or Spanish and their knowledge of the mother countries of these two important languages and of all aspects of the culture of these countries. While accomplishing these ends the boys will also study the normal English and mathematics courses under Andover and Exeter masters as well as European History from the point of view of the native instructors of the program who will teach in French or Spanish as the case may be. Boys successfully completing the courses return to their own high schools for their senior year without loss of graduation credit.

Participating in the French program will be Stephen M. LeGendre of Andover, a student at Phillips Academy. Among those making the trip to Spain will be Joshua L. Miner IV of Andover, a student at Governor Dummer Academy.

While participating in each course, the boys will live with a French or Spanish family in an atmosphere conducive to the accomplishment of the principal objectives of the program. Vacation periods are taken up by trips away from the base city of each program, designed to give the boys an overall picture of the country in which they are living. Both groups will return to New York at the beginning of June.

Faculty members participating in the two programs this year are John B. Heath of Exeter, to teach English and Robert T. Grant of Andover, to teach math in Barcelona; W. Leonard Stevens of Exeter, to teach English and Crayton W. Bedford, of Andover, to teach math in Rennes.

Faith Church Building Open

More than 300 persons attended the dedication service for the new Faith Lutheran Church building on South Main Street Sunday which was conducted by Rev. Dr. O. Karl Olander, New England Synod president.

Rev. Reuben A. Ludeen, executive director of mission services for the Lutheran Council in the USA was guest preacher. Speaking on the topic, "This Holy House," Pastor Ludeen stressed the fact that men of the 20th Century have difficulty thinking of things and places as holy. "Rather," he said, "we tend to separate life into sacred and secular realms and fail to see that what happens on Sunday should inform our lives every day, in every place we find ourselves. He went on to tell members and friends that "although it be difficult, the work of erecting a building is 'in vain if it be not for the proper use.'"

Greetings were heard from Town Manager Richard Bowen, Rev. Robert Bosdorf, president of the Andover Council of Churches and Rev. J. Edison Pike of Christ Church who presented the congregation with a brick from the original 1845 foundation of Christ Church "to be used to start the second and third stages of construction."

Many letters and telegrams were received from around the country including one from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Coffee and refreshments were served by Lutheran Church Women following the service.

Victims Survive

Two Vietnam veterans, Marines Lance Cpl. Dennis A. Soccoroso of West Medford and Lance Cpl. Anthony D. Newson of Roxbury continue to survive the accident which demolished their car when it went into the median on Route 93 Monday night and crashed between the North and South bound lanes onto Dascomb Rd., 30 feet below. State Trooper Thomas Byrne, a veteran officer, described the car as the "most utterly demolished I have ever seen." Andover Patrolman on the scene were Duncan M. Cairnie, Russell H. Berthel, Donald L. Howard, William A. Atwood and department photographer, Patrolman John D. Murray.

Bancroft Contract Signed

Schools Bursting At Seams

The town manager signed a $1,612,662 construction contract for the Bancroft Elementary School on Monday, only shortly before the school department reported enrollment of 407 more public school students here this year than attended in 1966-67.

Site development crews started work clearing the land Wednesday.

Before the contract was signed, change orders were agreed upon to bring the construction cost down from the $1,762,000 in the original bid. Manager Richard Bowen said later that none of the changes were substantive. The major savings were made on alterations to the heating specifications which will permit a cut of $33,575 in the cost of equipment for that share of the project. The other major cut $21,066, was realized by shifting from use of one skylight manufacturer to another.

The contract price now falls within the $1.8 million appropriation made at a special Town Meeting this summer. It will not cover the cost of equipping the building for which funds will be sought in March.

Meanwhile, the school population grows. The current registration is still under Supt. Edward I. Erickson's June prediction of 5243, but he has said enrollment could advance to that total by Oct. 1.

By contrast, there was little change in the enrollment figure for St. Augustine's School where 578 students attended last year and 601 are enrolled for the current term.

Voting Aids To Be Bought

Now that the Legislature has approved use of electronic voting equipment in Massachusetts, Town Clerk Irving O. Piper plans to be ready to introduce punch-card machines at the annual March election.

The last Town Meeting appropriated funds for the equipment.

In the meantime, Piper expects to show sample machines to organizations in the community as voter preparation for the switch to electronic voting.

Use of computer equipment will save money in more ways than one. It will eliminate the need for additional precincts to handle the voter load and it will cut the counting time which can get costly during state and national elections.

In addition, punch-card equipment can be bought for a fraction of the price of mechanical voting equipment. Prior to Town Meeting, Piper estimated it would cost the town about $11,000 to buy computer voting equipment as compared with about $60,000 for the traditional machines.

Silence has never been known to make a blunder, and sometimes makes a decided hit.
